

Conservation of Soil District Failed Saturday

Formation of a Soil Conservation District in Randall County was defeated Saturday by a vote of 144 to 179. Only 323 landowners in the county took the time to vote in the four boxes. Since there are about 800 farms in the county, there would have been between 1500 and 1600 voters eligible to cast a vote on the question.

It requires a vote of two-thirds majority to an election on Soil Conservation, which would have meant at least 216 favoring the proposal, as against 108 against the district. The election failed to get the necessary two-third majority in all of the four precincts.

The following was the vote.

	For	Against
Canyon	64	94
Umbarger	41	30
Ralph	25	17
Hollywood	14	38
Totals	144	179

It is reported that another vote on the issue will be taken in six months and in the meanwhile an educational program will be put on by those favoring the issue.

Hayden Weaver Is Candidate Office District Attorney

HAYDEN WEAVER

County Attorney Hayden Weaver has withdrawn as a candidate for re-election to the office of County Attorney, and is seeking the office of District Attorney. Branch Archer, first assistant to District Attorney Loyd King, has withdrawn from the race, and therefore Mr. Weaver is making this switch.

The following is his announcement to the voters of Randall county: "I am withdrawing from the County Attorney's race to enter the race for District Attorney, and I hope with all my heart that it meets with your approval. I deeply appreciate the privilege of serving you Randall County folks as County Attorney. This term as County Attorney has certainly meant a lot to me in many ways, and I hope in return, that I have carried out the duties of the office in such a way as to merit the trust.

"In the past few days a number of Randall County folks have wished me well in the District Attorney's race and it has certainly been encouraging. I appreciate it all. "It is my earnest desire that you will see fit to let me represent you in the criminal cases in District Court. If, through a hard campaign and good fortune, I happen to be elected your District Attorney I will put out every ounce of energy in vigorous prosecution so that I may carry the District Attorney's load on the law enforcement team. I will certainly cooperate to the fullest extent with Grand Juries, Sheriff's Offices and Police Departments.

"Perhaps, as some friends have suggested, a man outside of Potter County doesn't have much chance of being elected to the office, but I have had encouragement to get into the race from people in all walks of life in Potter County. If, in fact it is a handicap to live outside of Potter County in seeking such office, and I don't believe that it is, it has never bothered me to fight against odds. The way I feel about it is that if I am the right man for the office, I'll be elected, and if I am not, I won't.

"Your kindest and consideration in the past is appreciated. Thank you all."

Joe Thmopson Is Candidate Office County Attorney

JOE THOMPSON

Joe Thompson has authorized The News to announce his candidacy for the office of County Attorney. His statement follows:

"I have had the pleasure of serving you as County Attorney for the unexpired term of the late C. R. Flesher, and one full term, and shall be highly pleased to be returned to this office next January. When Hayden Weaver decided to run for District Attorney I have been urged by friends to again offer myself for this office.

"Having served you faithfully in the past, all of the voters know my record of full co-operation with the peace officers and the courts in the enforcement of the laws of the State. If I am elected to the important office of County Attorney, I shall continue my record of the past, and know that you will approve of my stand on important law enforcement issues.

"I hope to see the voters between now and the July primary, but if I should miss any of you I shall consider it a great pleasure to receive your enthusiastic support for this office. I will make you a good officer and a most diligent County Attorney," concluded Mr. Thompson.

Mrs. Clark Gives Thanks For Support of Many Friends

The following telegram was received Tuesday afternoon from Alta-vene Clark, who was second in the Congressional race:

Please extend my sincere thanks to my many friends who helped me in the campaign. I am proud that their vote of confidence places me at the head of the ticket to be the standard bearer of the real Democratic party in the July primary. I solicit their continued assistance now. Regards and thanks to all of you.

Methodist Pastor to New Parsonage

Rev. and Mrs. Hubert Thomson moved into their new home at 2105 Third Avenue Saturday. The new parsonage is being built by the Methodist congregation.

Mrs. Maud Walters has bought the old parsonage and is remodeling it for a rooming house.

Ben Guill, Republican, Won Congressional Post Saturday

Ben Guill of Pampa is the new Congressman from the 18th Congressional District to succeed Congressman Eugene Worley. Guill, the lone Republican, was elected in the special election Saturday over 10 Democrats. He will go to Washington in about two weeks to take his oath of office.

Mr. Guill is well known in Canyon, and for that reason was the top candidate of the eleven who were seeking the post. His widowed mother moved to Canyon from the family farm near Hereford, and ran a rooming house while Ben attended the Canyon high school, and later took his degree from West Texas State.

He was a Democrat until a few years ago, when he charged that the party had been stolen by the Socialists. During the campaign he fought bitterly the leftists in the Democratic party. He made the best campaign speech of the 11 candidates, according to his friends.

Not only Republicans, but "mad Democrats" rallied to the Guill corner of the political arena, and put him into Congress by a safe majority.

Personally, The News does not consider the election of Ben Guill more than a natural result of the times among an intelligent voting public. When he announced we pointed out the fact that Guill could win on the Republican ticket if the democratic vote was badly split. This prediction was carried out as the votes came in.

Guill had a total of 8,151 votes, with the Democrats trailing as follows:

- Altavene Clark, 6,264.
- J. Blake Timmons, 5,698.
- Walter Rogers, 5,163.
- LeRoy LaMaster, 3,793.
- Ronald Davis, 2,577.
- E. T. Burk, 2,440.

Talma Smith, 1,044.
 Woodrow Montgomery, 174.
 H. J. Bice, 107.

Mrs. Clark, Timmons, Rogers and LaMaster have filed for places in the July primary. If none of the four get a majority of the Democratic vote in the July primary the two leaders will go into the August primary.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Last Frontier of Americanism
Is Worth the Fight to Hold

Many Americans are worried about the situation in America today, which seems to be patterned after the English Socialistic government.

The defeat of Senator Pepper in Florida may have a retarding effect on the onward march toward Socialism, but we doubt it. The President is determined to put over his program, which looks more and more like Socialism.

We recently heard Senator Pepper state that the federal government could do more for the individual than he could do for himself. That is the doctrine under which the Socialists operate. Pepper has been the staunchest support of Socialism in the United States, working for the administration, rather than for the benefit of his folks down in Florida.

President Wiggins of Texas Tech spoke in Amarillo last week, pointing to the fact that the Southwest was the last frontier against the socialist doctrines which are being preached in Washington. A few years ago we did not believe this could be true. Harry Truman has converted us. We are firmly convinced now that the Socialists are riding high in Washington, and have control of the government.

According to the White House, it is the patriotic duty of every American to submit to government control of his every day life. He must be regulated, whether he likes it or not.

The most heartening thing that we have seen in recent months, aside from the defeat of Senator Pepper, is the support which is being given Senator Bob Taft in Ohio. Here the Senator amassed a greater vote than all of the Democrats combined. Unless the people of Ohio go to sleep at the polls in November, and take it for granted, Senator Taft will be returned to the Senate.

While we are a Democrat; our father was a Democrat before us; and our grandfather was a Democrat, we do not intend swallowing all of the stuff which comes out of Washington as being good Democratic practices.

We realize that William Jennings Bryan was dubbed a Socialist because he advocated sound legislation which is now taken for granted.

War regulations are taken for granted by the average citizen, but when the fighting stops, Americans want to return to the normal mode of life, and resent the continued war regulations, as well as having additional regulations imposed upon them.

Balancing the Postal Budget
Hold Up Service of the Mails

The greatest fallacy in the reduced postal service is the fact that the postmaster general is trying to apply the rules of sound business to the postal department, and thus balance the budget.

Who in Washington agrees with him?

Congress is hollering because of deficit spending, but when has the postal department ever broken even? The postoffice is a political machine, set up for the purpose of giving service to the people—regardless of the deficit.

The delivery men are the ones hardest hit. Because of the decline in deliveries, no one is going to send out less mail—especially the numerous departments, bureaus and especially the members of Congress. The mail is there to be delivered. The boys who carry the loads will have a double load to carry. Perhaps some of them have been light on former loads, but they are sure making up for it now.

If all who are connected with the government would have to pay postage like the balance of us, there would be no deficit, or overloading of deliverymen.

We Hope Mission To Moscow
Will Succeed, But Doubt It

Perhaps the suggestion made by Herbert Hoover is leading to a visit in Moscow by the UN secretary-general Trygve Lie. He is going to see if he can get in touch with Stalin and discuss the world situation with him.

Every American hopes that the mission will succeed. Nothing could happen that would be more disastrous at this time than a war with Russia.

We have our doubts about the success of the mission. The secretary-general will probably be given the brush-off. Stalin has nothing to win. He has traded us out of our shirts in past meetings, and should be content to keep America in suspense with the cold war, and threat of a hot war. Stalin and his gang are certainly smart enough not to expose the weakness of Russia at this time, and we know full well that Russia will speak only in vague terms of her strength. Even during the war, while Russia was fighting as our friend, we were never allowed to look behind the iron curtain.

What a mess; what a mess.

Education is either worth supporting or it should be dropped as a state activity.

The president of Chile comes a-visiting but, so far, we have heard nothing of a loan needed by Chile.

The President has had his vacation and Congress, before long and before the elections, will take one.

Faith in the future and work will keep the nation prosperous; there still are few short cuts to fortunes.

Regardless of what you hear, or read, the human race is improving throughout the world.

Unless principle restrains selfishness, there is no hope for a person, a nation or a world.

When a man seeks recognition of equality he evidently looks up.

You never know how well you can see until you lose your glasses.

Now that mail deliveries are to be reduced will this mean less mail?

Soil Conservation or Not Has Received Poor Advertising

An election on soil conservation in Randall county will be held before this is read; and this page will be printed before the election is held.

This has been a funny situation. The Canyon News has been accused of being both for and against soil conservation.

The trouble is that both factions, those for and those against the formation of the district have not sought to inform the public on this question.

Those opposed to the establishment of the district are opposed because they are opposed; those who favored the district are for it because so many other counties and states have such districts and such large sums of money are coming to the counties with the districts.

Frankly, The News was neither for or against the issue since we have no vote on soil conservation. We own no land. But we realize that the proponents made a miserable failure in not telling the people the benefits that they might expect from the formation of such a district. The state boys, the fellows who were so anxious for the establishment of the district, made no efforts to inform the people of the advantages of the district.

We are told that another election will be held if this election fails Saturday. We hope that should this second election be held that some one who knows the facts will take the necessary steps to inform the voters, and not take things too much for granted.

On the other hand, if the election carries, we hope that those who have been opposed to the formation of the district will be agreeably surprised to see good returns from such a district.

No War With Russia, Says the President—Starting His Tour

President Truman announced Thursday that there was no danger of war with Russia. This is certainly a change of attitude from the statements which have been coming from the White House during the past few months.

Every man connected with the administration has been warning of the greater need for defense measures, and larger appropriations. The Senate seems sold on the idea of continuing the draft for two years, but no men will be inducted into military service without the will of Congress.

We have been told time and again that we are losing the cold war; that Russia is gaining strength in China, and other Russian neighbors.

You will recall that both Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt toured the country just before the two world wars broke out, telling the people that there was no danger of war. Truman is starting on a jaunt across the nation, telling the same thing.

It makes one stop and wonder just what the situation really is.

Jesse Jones Dubbed "Jesse
James" By the Free Spenders

Jesse Jones was dubbed "Jesse James" by the bureaucrats because he made sound investments for RFC, and got his loans paid off.

He now advocates that the government get out of the loan business, and stop all of the foolishness which has gone on in RFC by making unsound loans.

Jones is probably butting his head against a stone wall. The fact that government finances are available in all towns and cities of large proportion, and the small communities are being ignored means nothing to the bureaucratic boys.

For instance, if you live in Amarillo or Lubbock, the government agencies will break their backs to make you any sort of a loan. (There are many votes in these cities). But here in Canyon, the sounder your financial position the harder it is to get a government loan. Just ask those who have tried to get a loan completed.

Newspapers Are Not Diving
Overboard in Race for Congress

We wish that we could predict in advance who will be named Congressman from the 18th Congressional District on this Thursday. But we cannot be such a sage. This page will be printed before the election is held.

Two things have been noticeable in this campaign: The candidates have found a serious attitude on the part of the voters. The candidates have been looked over very carefully, and few of the 11 candidates have had the enthusiastic support of any group of voters. This has been a free election.

In the second place, the candidates have found that they can reach the voters through newspaper advertising. So far only a few newspaper editors have come out flatly for any candidate. In the good old days, the newspaper men have been the goats, pouring out their might and their dollars for certain candidates. This time the newspapers have been quiet in their preferences and have allowed all candidates the right to talk to their readers as much as they pleased.

It is a healthy condition.

WT's Largest Graduating Class Will Receive Degrees This Year

A record-breaking class of graduates will parade across the stage of the main auditorium in the Administration Building, May 24, to receive their sheepskins from West Texas president, Dr. James P. Cornette.

A total of 245 students will become exes of WT in that ceremony. This is 51 over the previous high, set last year, of 194. This includes 228 seniors and 17 graduate students.

It is expected that this will draw the curtain on the "rush" years of college attendance, inaugurated soon after the end of World War II, when millions of ex-GI's flooded the country's campuses.

DELTA KAPPA GAMMA HOLDS LAST MEETING

Pi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honorary society for women teachers, will hold its last meeting of the year in the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel at 6:30, on Saturday evening, May 13.

Pioneer women teachers are to be honor guests at this meeting; a tribute to them will be given by Miss Una Brooks, Chairman of the chapter's Committee on Pioneer Women and Research. Miss Elva Fronabarger, Principal of the Canyon Elementary School, will give a talk and lead a discussion on "Books I Have Enjoyed."

Delta Kappa Gamma Society, through its members and committees, has done extensive work in collecting and preserving records of pioneer women. In 1942 Miss Brooks completed "The Influence of the Pioneer Women Toward a Settled Social Life on Llano Estacado." This thesis was a part of her work for her Master's Degree at West Texas State College.

In this study attention is called to the comparatively recent settlement of the plains region, and the possibilities for information from and contacts with pioneers still living. Mention is made of the coming of the first woman bent on settlement in 1876. By excerpts from the U.S. Census Reports, Miss Brooks shows that in the 32 Northwestern counties of Texas in 1888 there was a population of 1667, of which 418 were women; two of these were in Potter County, and none in Randall; by 1900, Potter had 308 women and Randall none; by 1910, Potter had increased to 5,653, and Randall to 1,486. By this time fear of the Indians and wild animals had been reduced to a minimum, and the Panhandle was reaping the benefits of courageous and constructive work of early settlers.

Some of the women who were active in the early development of the section are still participants in its cultural life. Delta Kappa Gamma is to be lauded for its contribution to the preservation of material of significance in the development of education in the Panhandle. Besides Miss Brooks, other members of the chapter's Committee on Pioneer Women and Research are Miss Anna I. Hibbetts, herself a pioneer in the field of teacher training at West Texas State College, and Miss Louise Orr, Principal of the Glenwood School, Amarillo.

At noon members present shared a covered dish luncheon in the basement of the church.

High point of the afternoon program was a talk by Mr. Truitt Smith on some of his studies in Archaeology in connection with the ancient city of Jericho.

Russia Has One Idea of Control the Entire World

One of the most interesting books on Russia is called "The Police State: What You Need to Know About the Soviet Union." Written by Craig Thompson, a former Moscow Correspondent of Time and Life, and published by E. P. Dutton, it gives small comfort to those who believe that some kind of fair and workable agreement can now be achieved between Russia and this country. Mr. Thompson is absolutely convinced that the Kremlin is hell-bent on the political and economic enslavement of the world and that it is not interested in half a loaf. Of the Russian leaders he says, "To them, compromise is only a stratagem, a device to fool the enemy and gain a more advantageous position."

In other words, the part of wisdom is to view every Soviet act and policy—no matter how harmless or even conciliatory it may seem to be—with the utmost suspicion.

Here Mr. Thompson is in obvious agreement with the views of Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Mr. Acheson's recent speeches have all reflected a deep pessimism, and a firm and reasoned feeling that further negotiations with the Kremlin bosses—even if they took place on the top level between Stalin and Truman—could not possibly do any good, and that, even they might do great harm by producing a sense of complacency and false security among the people. Whether this feeling is right or wrong, the present foreign policy of the U. S. government is based upon it.

If we are to accept this reasoning, and if we are to win the cold war, we must have a strong and stable policy and the strength to back it up. The most reasoned criticism of President Truman's past and present foreign policy is that it has often consisted of big words which we could not possibly justify with deeds. To make matters worse, in the view of many, the policy has on occasion been changed and modified for strictly political purposes.

Here is why the demand for a return to a genuinely bipartisan foreign policy has again reached a climatic point. That kind of policy died with the illness of Senator Vandenberg which prevented him from carrying on the enormously important work he had been doing. Mr. Truman's appointment of John Foster Dulles as a special advisor to Mr. Acheson marks, it is almost universally hoped, a return to bipartisan ship.

Another shot in this direction was fired in a major speech by Thomas E. Dewey, in which he strongly and clearly showed the direct relationship between an effective bipartisan foreign policy and national liberty and security. Mr. Dewey berated both Republicans and Democrats who put politics above the public welfare. Perhaps the best sign of the times is that more and more men in high places recognize that the terrible seriousness of the situation demands resolute and unselfish action.

W. T. Students Will Stage "12 Night" Two Shows

When the curtain goes up Wednesday night at 8:15 o'clock on a street scene in the land of Ilyria, the audience will get its first peek at the magnificent production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." The West Texas State College speech department is presenting the most elaborate and expensive show in WT history.

For Months, the cast and stage crew, both including some 70 people, have been working diligently to complete sets and costumes and perfect lines in time for the production dates.

Directing the play is Mr. William Angus Moore with assistance from his wife, Mrs. Margaret Echols Moore. Mr. Moore has concentrated on the love scenes while his wife has worked more with the comic characters in their scenes.

Carl Mitchell, designer of the entire show, has been in a whirl of painting, drawing, sewing, and engineering. Costumes for the play are fabulous, with some of the trimmings, jewelry and insignias, being ordered from Italy.

Leading a double role is Bill Hutchinson, graduate assistant in speech, who plays the role of a singing clown and acts as technical director for the play. He is in charge of the construction of the revolving stage, wagon stages and scenery.

Musical accompaniment for the play will be provided by the West Texas Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Lewis Stoezeling. Houston Bright, who has prepared a musical score especially for the show, has captured the spirit of the Shakespearean time in his tunes.

Performances are to be held in the Administration Auditorium Wednesday and Thursday nights. Admission prices are 50 cents and 75 cents. Children will be admitted for half price if accompanied by an adult. All seats are reserved.

CENTRAL H. D. CLUB HAS "UNUSUAL" PARTY

The Central Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall Friday night, May 5th for an "unusual" party.

Guests were met at the door by inspectors to see if they were unusual enough to be admitted. Once inside they were told to put 25 cents in the pot, to register, and make a guess at what the grand prize for the most unusual guest would be. Costumes of the guests ranged from evening dresses and crocheted bed jackets to gingham dresses with cockle burr corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Hines came dressed as "the old wild goose and wife," feathers, beak and all.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barker came as hill billy farmers. To complement the beauty of her faded and worn dress, Mrs. Barker wore a corsage of cockle burr and porky pine eggs, tied with a piece of binder twine.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitt came as school kids. Mrs. Pitt also had on her 1933 hat, adorned with five balls of steel wool and a baby chick.

Mrs. W. L. Rice's costume recalled the days when dresses were short and knee caps grinned at one another across the room. She had on her 1932 hat, trimmed with a black spider.

Margaret Cole and Mae Johnson appeared in backward dress. Mrs. Johnson wore a hat for a corsage on her snuff brown dress, and Mrs. Cole wore a framed picture of "Mule Train" pinned to her lovely fitting blue dress. Mrs. Walters made her appearance in a bath mat set with powder puff corsages, while Billie Sogree represented the battle of Manila in a U. S. Navy uniform.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson came as Roy Acuff and her striped overalls were very becoming adorned with approximately 20 pieces of costume jewelry.

Mr. and Mrs. White came dressed backwards and Mr. White won the grand prize for being the most choked man present. The prize was a pair of crocheted baby booties. Mrs. Hines furnished piano music throughout the evening. She also won the second prize, a five inch cockroach, presented on a silver platter.

Mrs. Marshall was lovely in an evening dress of ballroom nylon with waltzing dots, crocheted bed room slippers, blue anklets, and a hat consisting of two chore girls trimmed with crisp celery stalks. She carried a bag fashioned of an old straw hat, and to complete her costume, she had potato bugs on her ears and bats in her belfry.

After a few slow games of 42 with plenty of fast, loud music to drown out the bidding, refreshments of man-size cookies, coffee and iced grape juice were served to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Northcutt, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Pitt, Mr. and Mrs. George Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Otto White, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Sogree and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morris, of Hart, spent Sunday evening in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hancock.

Mrs. C. B. Chandler was called to Athens last week to be with her father, J. B. Sanders, who was seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hicks and her father, of Snyder, have returned from a vacation trip to California.

A classic of oratory is the "Babe of the Alamo" speech delivered in the Texas House of Representatives by Guy M. Bryan, many years ago:

I intended, Mr. Speaker, to be silent on this occasion, but silence would now be a reproach, when to speak is a duty. No one has raised a voice in behalf of this orphan child; several have spoken against her claim. I rise, Sir, in behalf of no common cause. Liberty was its foundation, heroism and martyrdom consecrated it. I speak for the orphan child of the Alamo.

No orphan children of fallen patriots can send a scintilla of petition to this House—none save her can say, "I am the Child of the Alamo." Well do I remember the consternation which spread throughout the land when the sad tidings reached our ears that the Alamo had fallen! It was here that a gallant few, the bravest of the brave, threw themselves betwixt the enemy and the settlements, determined not to surrender nor retreat. They redeemed that pledge with the forfeit of their lives—they fell, the chosen sacrifice to Texas Freedom!

Texas, unapprised of the approach of the invader, was sleeping in fancied security, when the gun of the Alamo first announced that the Atilla of the South was near. Infuriated at the resistance of Travis and his noble band, he marshalled his whole army beneath the walls, and rolled wave after wave of his hosts against those battlements of freedom. In vain he strove; the flag of liberty—the Lone Star of Texas—still streamed out upon the breeze and floated proudly from the outer wall. Maddened and persistent, he reared his batteries and, after days of furious bombardment and repeated assaults, he took a blackened and ruined mass—the bloodstained walls of the Alamo.

Popular Teacher Resigns Post; Goes To Nebraska U.

Dr. Colbert C. Held, professor of Geography, has announced his resignation from the faculty of West Texas State and his appointment to the staff of the Department of Geography of the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska, one of the top five geography schools in the country.

The well-liked instructor came to WT in the fall of 1949 and through the past year has specialized in political geography. This has been his field since early 1948 when he toured Europe, and especially the Saar, gathering data for his thesis. He graduated with a Doctor's degree from Clark University last summer, just before coming to WT.

A native Texan, Dr. Held got his B. A. from Baylor University and his M. A. from Northwestern University. He taught at two Southern colleges before his four years spent in the army, where he was an Information and Intelligence officer.

Dr. Held probably became best known at West Texas as the originator of the "Wranglers," a panel discussion group for students. Though he, the moderator, will not be back this fall, Dr. Held expressed deep concern about it and hopes that it will "get off to a bigger start than it did last year."

Another of his originations at Canyon has been the start of a College weather station. A well-equipped station has been set up by the Geography department and the control of the equipment will pass on to Dr. Held's replacement.

As a member of the faculty of WT, Dr. Held was a speaker on the program of the annual National Convention of the Association of American Geographers at Worcester, Massachusetts this spring. He spoke on "Recent political and geographical changes in the Saarland."

The amiable professor will leave for Nebraska University the first week in September. Prior to that he will teach both six week periods this summer. Students wishing to study under him before his departure will have access to these subjects: first six weeks—"Principles of Political Geography" and "Global Geography."

In an interview Wednesday Dr. Held said, "I regret exceedingly that my association with the students, staff, and administration of WT will have been for just one brief year. I could not have had a more pleasant group to work with, and I'm sure it is superfluous to say that my only reason for going to Nebraska is to join the faculty of a large university geography department. Mrs. Held and I deeply appreciate the cordial treatment that we have received and will always remember the good friends we have made here and the friendly atmosphere of WT, Canyon, and the Panhandle."

The noble, the martyred spirits of all its gallant defenders had taken their flight to another fortress, not made with hands.

But for this stand at the Alamo, Texas would have been desolated to the Sabine. Sir, I ask this pittance, and for whom? For the only living witness, save the mother, of this awful tragedy—"This bloodiest picture in the book of time," the bravest act that ever swelled the annals of any country.

Grant the boon! She claims it as the Christian child of the Alamo—baptized in the blood of a Travis, a Bowie, a Crockett and a Bonham. To turn her away would be a shame! Give her what she asks, that she may be educated and become a worthy child of the State—that she may take that position in society to which she is entitled by the illustrious name of her martyred father—illustrious because he fell in the Alamo.

The man of true greatness never loses his child's heart.—Mencius.

None think the great unhappy, but the great.—Edward Young.

Veterans Will Not Suffer By Hoover Report

It has been charged that the Hoover Commission report on veterans' affairs amounts to a "ruthless campaign to sell the veterans 'down the river,' and that the report is 'another knife in the backs of the men and women who have honorably served our country in time of war."

A complete reply on a matter so involved as this would take many pages. However the caliber and backgrounds of the men who were on the task force that framed the report, or assisted in a consulting capacity, provides an effective answer in itself. Among those men were: Col. Franklin D'Olier, first National Commander of the Legion; the late James Forrestal, former Secretary of Defense, Generals Eisenhower and Doolittle, and Admirals Nimitz and King.

Actually, even a cursory reading of the report provides beyond question that it was designed to protect and maintain every legitimate service to the veterans and, wherever possible to improve the service—especially in the medical field. At the same time, it is designed to eliminate the waste and overlapping of agencies and functions which are needlessly using up too much of the money appropriated for the veterans.

The Hoover Commission report on veterans' affairs, like all the other reports, was the result of searching study of the problem. It was made by men who are vitally interested in the well-being of former service people. In its essential at least, it should be adopted.

The above statement regarding the recommendation of the Hoover Commission regarding the cost of veterans benefits is taken from a reputable source. The News has not seen a copy of the Hoover report, but it was made by experienced men in all branches of the service.

The News has an interesting letter from Roy Price, Service Officer of the Canyon VFW, in protest to the Hoover report. We take it that Mr. Price has studied the Hoover report.

The News does not believe that any American citizen would take the position of denying the veterans any needed assistance, especially those who have suffered the loss of their normal bodies and normal minds during the war. We do not believe that any man who was in the thick of the battle, regardless of whether or not he was wounded, will ever fully recover from the devastating effects of war, and should be given every consideration. There are millions of others who were never near the battlefield who suffered no ill effects of the war.

view that the Hoover report takes, so we are led to believe.

Spanish Teachers Of Plains Area Meet Harper Home

Spanish teachers of the Plains area met in Canyon Saturday, May 6, for the spring meeting of the Llano Estacado Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

The meeting, which was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ples Harper, took the form of a Peruvian picnic, with typical Peruvian foods being served at the refreshment hour.

The program included a description, by Dr. Earl Hamilton, Lubbock, of the extension course in Spanish culture to be offered in Mexico this summer by Texas Tech. A review of Wayland College's summer school in Mexico was given by Mrs. Blonda Woodward, head of the branch school. Miss Avis Weir, of Amarillo, gave a review of a Spanish novel which she had recently translated for her Master's Thesis. Members of the Girls' Trio of W. T. High Spanish Club furnished music.

The group voted to accept the invitation of Amarillo College for the October meeting.

Officers of the Llano Estacado Chapter are: President, Tommie Montfort of W. T. S. Demonstration School; vice-president, P. Leon Reynolds of Lubbock Tech; secretary-treasurer, Agnes Charlton, of West Texas State College; corresponding secretary, Cora Russell, of Amarillo.

AN ESSAY

A little boy's essay on geese:

"A geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is mostly meat and feathers. His head sits on one side and he sits on the other. A geese can't sing much on account of dampness of the moisture. He ain't got no between-his-toes and he's got a little balloon on his stomach to keep him from sinking. Some geese when they gits big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't half to sit and hatch, but just eat and loaf, and go swimming. If I was a goose, I'd rather be a gander."

ENTANGLEMENT

"What do you think of Government regulation of the stock market?"

"It'll be something interesting to watch," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "if the red tape gets all snarled up with the ticker tape."

OH, AT LAST

Doctor: You say that, on an average, you have been drinking six glasses of beer a day? Now I can allow you only half the number.

PICKPOCKET SCHOOL

Crook Acts In Dual Role

LONDON, ENGLAND. — Jonathan Wild was a man who worked both sides of the street.

As dictator of London's underworld, he ran a stolen goods business so big that he had to open a branch office.

In the criminal courts, he was an ardent champion of justice, with a semi-official position and a record of capturing more thieves than any London policeman.

Quite a character, this Wild. His wife was attended by a liveried footman. He swaggered in a sword and ruffles. Honest people gave him a check on the "take" of his underling crooks. Honest magistrates hanged his rivals. He may have been the first person in history to endow a school of etiquette for pickpockets.

Quite a lad. Until they hanged him.

Creature of Underworld

Wild was a creature of the roistering London underworld of the early 18th century, a fetid, gin-sodden sewer, teeming with the lost, the desperate and the vicious.

He himself was born in the provinces and was a journeyman buckle maker until he deserted his wife and child to go to the big city. His arrival there was inauspicious and he might have lived his life out in anonymity, poor but dishonest, except for two happenings.

The first was: He was tossed into jail for debt. In the seamy prisons of that day, debtors—more or less innocent—mingled with criminals of the most hardened character.

Wild stayed in prison four years. There he got an education, a career and a wife, the last a lady of the shrews named Mary Milliner. She shared Wild's name and growing prosperity for several years until, one day, he felt constrained to lop off one of her ears with a sword and kick her out.

On leaving pokey, Mr. and Mrs. Wild went into business, operating an alehouse of a dubious sort. They attracted a fairly good spending clientele of crooks. There are legends that Wild padded out his income by a bit of judicious burglarizing, but this was never proved.

It was while he was an innkeeper that Wild ran into the second experience that changed his life.

Chosen as Partner

Charles Hichin had been city marshal (chief of police) of London and had abused the position thoroughly. Caught in some rough work, he was demoted to constable. He had ideas: Principal among them the thought that he could live mightily comfortably if he could terrorize the criminals into sharing their loot with him.

Hichin needed a partner and he chose Wild. From every viewpoint except one, the choice was superb. The exception was Hichin's own welfare.

Together, the pair blackmailed the underworld, levying tribute from the illegal house, forcing burglars and cutpurses — under threats of arrest—to disgorge part of their loot. It was Wild's task to collect this booty and take it to Hichin, who would sell it.

But Hichin had the mind of a strong arm gorilla; Wild had the brain of an organizer. Inevitably, the subordinate began double crossing his boss and edging him out of top position.

Hichin flailed back grotesquely in the public print and soon London was treated to the odd spectacle of two supercrooks bludgeoning each other in pamphlets and advertisements.

The end was foreordained. Hichin sank back to the level of a petty crook. Wild became master of the racket.

Chicago Cops Have System Outwitting Overtime Parkers

CHICAGO.—Policemen here have come up with a trick that offenders haven't yet been able to outguess.

Until recently, traffic policemen marked the tires of parked cars with chalk. If a car bearing the chalk marks was still in the stall when the policeman returned after the allowed period of parking, the motorist would receive a ticket.

But the drivers got smart. They would erase the chalk mark and pretend innocence when accused of overstaying their time.

So, the policemen took to putting peanuts under the wheels of parked cars. If the police returned and found the peanut intact, the violators were tagged.

Setting Wife on Hot Stove Gets Offender $27 Fine

ATLANTA, GA.—The official recorder wasn't having any part of letting the man get away with a crime like that—setting his wife on a hot stove.

Roy Turner, 50, was accused by Mrs. Turner of setting her up on a hot stove and holding her there.

"I haven't been able to lie down since it happened," she told A.W. Callaway, court recorder.

Callaway couldn't find any ordinance covering the offense, so he fined Turner $27 for assault and battery.

Discovery

Tom Paine's Picture Found?

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—What he believes to be the only known painting of early American patriot Thomas Paine has been found by Dr. Harold E. Dickson, fine-arts professor at Penn State.

The portrait of the 18th century revolutionist—author was done by John Wesley Jarvis, an American painter. It was painted in 1805, a few years before Paine died.

While gathering material for a book on Jarvis, Dickson repeatedly ran across references to a documented portrait of Paine. But 10 years of searching down blind alleys failed to produce it.

In a republication review of his book, Dickson wrote, "If this picture should still exist... its discovery would be an important one."

Two Athens, Pa. women almost immediately informed the professor that they had the portrait. Dickson examined it and its certificate.

"This well-documented and unquestionably authentic portrait of Paine by Jarvis can be given rightful recognition as the last and at present the only located painting from life of one who played an effective role in the founding of our nation," he said.

Atomic Energy Set Provides New Toy For Young America

NEW YORK.—Parents may at first feel a little apprehension about a potential toy from Santa for junior; but there is no cause for alarm.

It is true that there is a toy atomic energy set on the market—but junior can't make an A-bomb with it and it is described as a wholly peaceful plaything.

The kit—complete with a Geiger counter that actually works—is just one of the thousands of glittering new playthings toymakers have cooked up for young America.

In spite of the atomic energy outfit, the accent for the most part is on the peaceful arts, the toymakers say.

But even so, the gun-toting cowboy and his range-riding regalia still holds forth as young America's No. 1 enthusiasm. Accordingly, there's a record turnout of new styles for the 1950 cowpoke, including a gold-plated pistol that releases puffs of real power smoke when the trigger is pulled.

Farm toys come into their own with child-size tractors that'll cut a furrow or haul a wagon.

If junior wants to grow up to be a barber, there's a practice kit for him, too. It comes with clippers and a razor—that won't cut—and a shaving mug.

A new wrinkle for bubble-blowing drinking dolls is a rubber-tipped plastic straw. Just press the doll's tummy and it gobbles down a glass of water as neat as you please.

For the electric hobbyist there are refinements galore. One new thrill is a complete circus train with cages and animals, ready to be set up into a multi-ringed circus after the freight cars are unloaded.

The junior atomic laboratory stresses the peaceful side of nuclear research, the toymakers say.

The set includes a geiger counter that gives off visual and sound signals when uranium or other radioactive ore is near. There's also a fluorescent screen on which the young scientist can study atomic radio active material disintegrating.

The kit is stocked with radioactive minerals and instructions on the use of atomic energy for constructive needs.

Barber, Tree Enthusiast, Gives Customers Seedlings

BREVARD, N.C.—If you drop into John Smith's barbershop you can get a shave or a haircut all right, but you may wind up planting trees.

John E. Ford, forestry specialist for the state college extension service, says that Smith is so interested in getting trees planted in Transylvania county that he has obtained tree seedling application blanks from the local farm agent. Smith distributes these blanks among customers in his shop.

Since he has been in business for about 40 years, Smith has a fairly good idea of which customers may have idle land for tree planting and thus doesn't waste many application blanks.

Bugs Bugging Around Bugs Disconcerts Entomologist

RICHMOND, VA.—The bugs here got into the state entomologist's bugs and sort of messed up the whole detail.

G. T. French discovered that sad fact when he dusted off some of his sample cases, showing the metamorphosis of the June bug.

The adult June bug's carcass was nibbled; the larva was badly chewed.

Groaned French: "It's those darned carpet beetles again."

JENNINGS JUDGED WINNER AT REVIEW

Jimile Jennings was adjudged winner of the 4-H dress review held in Canyon May 6. The dress she made and modeled was of brown dotted swiss with a white collar. She wore brown and white spectator pumps, white hat and gloves.

Jimile will represent the girls' 4-H clubs of Randall county in the State Dress Review at College Station during the State 4-H Round-up early in June.

Twelve other girls modeled their dresses at the dress review and received very favorable comment from the judges. Only three girls competed for the chance to appear in the state review. Most of the others were too young.

Mrs. Virdie Wheeler, County Home Demonstration Agent of Moore county and Miss Marie Rae, senior student at West Texas State were the judges. About seventy-five persons attended the dress review which was held in the cafeteria at Canyon High School. Mrs. K. E. Hines of the Central Home Demonstration Club furnished piano music for the occasion.

Tea was served from a beautifully appointed table by the ladies of the Canyon, Central and Edgetown home demonstration clubs. Mrs. Velton Sogree served as chairman of the entertainment committee.

Canyon Boy Takes Important Role in Ballet Dancing of New York Show

LOREN HIGHTOWER

Loren Hightower, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hightower of Canyon, is currently appearing in the new Broadway show, "Peter Pan," which is already being acclaimed the hit of the season. The J. M. Barrie fantasy starring Jean Arthur and Boris Karloff opened April 24, at the Imperial Theatre and was enthusiastically received by audience and critics as well. The New York Times reviewer stated that the production has "recaptured something that is priceless in the workaday theatre," and that "although the world may have grown old and cynical, 'Peter Pan' is still a thing of delight." The New York World-Telegram and Sun reviewer said, "The whole production is done with taste and the sort of delicacy that makes it authentic." The Daily News described the production as an "intelligent, handsome, tasteful and beautifully coordinated work."

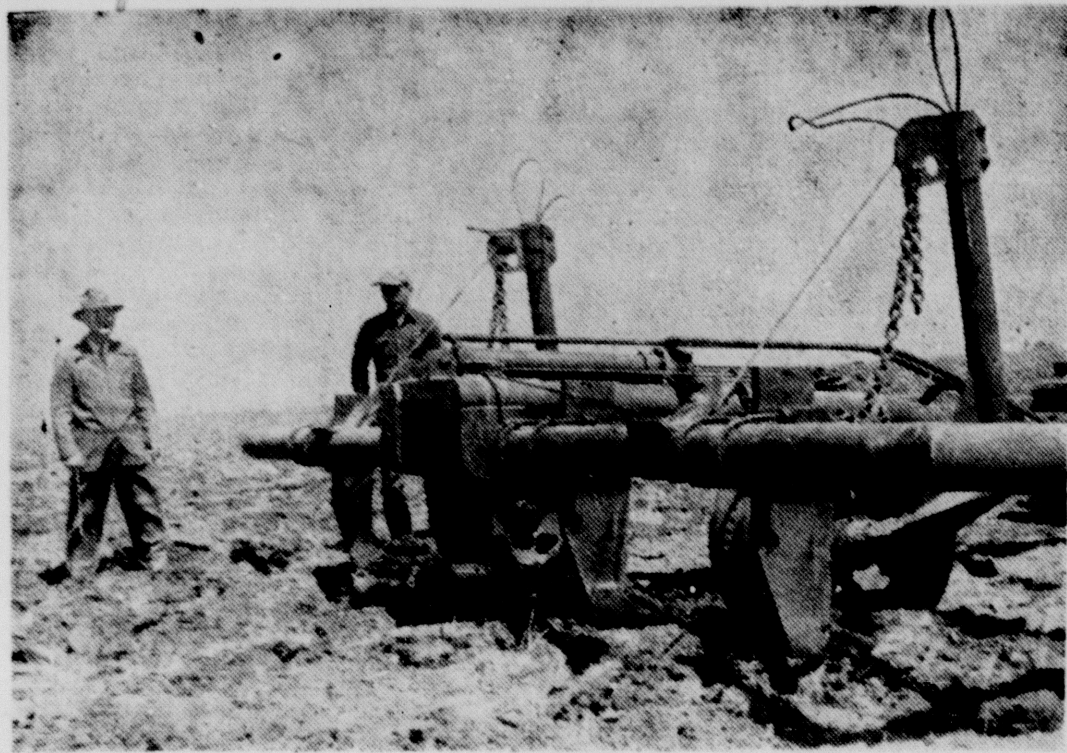

Loren, graduated from West Texas High School and attended Amarillo College. He first studied ballet with Lewis Walker of Larrimore Studio in Amarillo. From there he went on scholarship to the Jacob's Pillow University of the Dance near Lee, Massachusetts. Since going to

New York, he has studied with Thalia Mara and Arthur Mahoney of Ballet Repertory Company as a scholarship student, and with Madame Elizaveta Anderson Ivantsova, Charles Weidman, and Maria Teresa Acuna. At present he is studying with Miss Margaret Craske, ballet mistress of Ballet Theatre Company.

Previous to his dancing in "Peter Pan" in the part of an Indian inhabitant of the Never-Never Land, Loren has appeared with the American Dance Repertory Company and Theatre Dance, Incorporated, and has managed his own group of Spanish Flamenco dancers for special appearances at the New York Theosophical Society and other private engagements. He has danced principal roles with Ballet Repertory Company, Matti Halm's Symposiums of Dance, and the B. D. Rich dance group. Loren aspires eventually to do concert work in classical ballet.

PMA ADMINISTRATOR Walter Upchurch of Randall county, left, checks with Cat Operator J. T. Thompson on the deep plowing being done on the Ray Metcalf farm near Umbarger. The four "gouge" plows are out of the ground here.

Deep Plowing Employed By Area Farmers

Failure of the wheat crop has given farmers of the Tri-State area an opportunity to experiment with sub-soiling of their cropland on a scale never before attempted.

"This deep plowing, with penetration to 12 inches and deeper, beats terracing all hollow," declared PMA Secretary Walter Upchurch of Randall county, one day last week after inspection of some of the work on the Ray Metcalf farm, north of Umbarger.

The Production and Marketing Administration is making practice payment of two dollars an acre for subsoiling at a minimum depth of 12 inches, Upchurch points out.

"This practice shouldn't be done every year on our land but it sure puts the top soil down in the cracks where the hard-pan is being broken up," an official added.

At least 50 farms in Randall county alone are being subsoiled in this manner now for the first time in history.

"Of course, if it rains all approvals for this practice will be ended immediately," Upchurch said. "This deep plowing was tried in Deaf Smith county last year on a small scale and is now being extended to other areas."

This type of sub-soiling requires the use of what are known as the "gouge" type plows, pulled by big tractors. In this instance an International Diesel Crawler type, the TD 14a, was used by the contractor, R. A. Burrus. His sub-soiling machine was manufactured by Porch Brothers machine shop in Hereford and has four of the plows, with points made out of hard steel. The points wear out and have to be replaced by new points being welded on.

"In Randall county, also, we had about 40 farms where the practice had to be cut back to a minimum

8-inch depth because the plow wouldn't penetrate the hard-pan," the administrator explained. "The so-called Hoeme plow is fine for surface work only and that practice is known as chiselling. This practice goes only six inches down."

The deep subsoiling practice is better done on dry land and is no good on irrigated land that has had water on it in the past eight months or less, Upchurch said.

In most industries, when it's time to stop work, the work stops.

UPCHURCH AND THOMPSON check the depth at which the plows are running and found it was about 14 inches. Big clods of earth were brought to the surface from the hardpan which is below the 8-inch level.

THE BIG SUB-SOILING machine is shown in operation here. The big plow was built in a Hereford machine shop for R. A. Burrus, contractor.

Heart Disease Is Number 1 Killer Among Texans

Heart disease is the number one killer in Texas and last year there were 18,003 deaths from diseases of the heart, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

What kind of a heart have you? The periodic check-up with your physician will tell you. The Tuberculosis Survey in the state conducted by the Texas State Department of Health has brought to light many non-tuberculosis abnormalities, some of these have been heart conditions.

The three present major forms of heart trouble are: rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure and coronary heart disease. Rheumatic heart disease, the most common type of early life, occurs as the result of one or more attacks of rheumatic fever. It is a public health problem for which very little has been done, yet with early diagnosis and proper medical care during the acute and convalescent stages, children who develop rheumatic fever can be largely spared from rheumatic heart disease in later life.

Another major cause of heart trouble is high blood pressure or hypertension. This is the most common heart disease of middle age. There is a great deal that is not known about this disease, but we do know that it is most common in people who are overweight, and that it is associated with long, continuous nervous strain, high tension and constant worry. Treatment of high blood pressure is fairly successful in the majority of cases.

Coronary heart disease is a disease of the arteries which supply the heart muscle itself with blood. A majority of persons survive the first attack, and with good medical care, rest and common sense precautions, may even live a normal life span. Syphilitic heart disease can be prevented by early and adequate care of the systemic disease, a problem which has been simplified by the use of penicillin.

Research in the medical sciences is constantly improving the outlook for the cardiac patient, yet each individual must assume the responsibility for obtaining the benefits of this knowledge from his physician for himself and family.

Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. representative to United Nations: "Never in our history have you seen the world so cooperative for peace as it is today."

BEHAVE, AND LIKE IT

One sure way to get to know a person's true character is to go on a trip with him. If you don't believe me, just ask the members of the Senior class who have returned from their annual trip.

When one is feeling fine and happy, that is not the time to judge his true character. The person who can remain kind and thoughtful even when he is weary is the one that will get along in life.

One thought which might come to mind now, is "where is such a person?" Maybe that's a good question, because no one is perfect.

A good traveler realizes that he is going to meet unpleasant situations and a true sign of culture is the ability to take what comes and make the best of it.

One other thing is the tendency of griping to spread. Why can't the whole bunch imitate one good-natured person instead of the foul-tempered creature? H-U-H?

Various Spring Tonics Prevent Annoying Visions During May

Is old spring fever nipping at your heels? Do you have summer time visions already? It is far too soon. Far too soon!

To prevent this, one should ask Jack Barnett to give him a half ice tea glass of castor oil containing five drops of turpentine frosted over with banana-nut ice cream. The first few bites are pleasant but after that, one sits up with such a jerk that all visions vanish!

Harry Garrison has a favorite remedy for Springitis. It consists of one half tea cup of cascara seasoned with little liver pills, topped with a bottle of cold coke, flavored with strawberry preserves. This is quite unusual, and when administered in proper doses keeps one's mind alert, not obsessed with visions of summer.

For those who desire to be really wide awake these days why not try James E. Miller's spring tonic? To stir this up, one measures two cups of coffee in which are dissolved three table spoons of epsom salts. Top this with an icing of mentholatum dashed with red-hot. This is to be taken every few hours, and will no doubt prevent anyone's ever having troublesome visions again. After a few doses of this, one cannot only write perfect theses, do all his algebra problems with ease, but will also feel the impulse to jump from one's pallet at the crack of dawn and whip his weight in canary birds!

Senior Girls Attend Annual AAUW Tea

"It is good to live among kind and helpful people," declared Mrs. Alma Peagle, to the senior girls from Canyon High and West Texas High at the annual tea given by the AAUW in the home of Mrs. Ples Harper last Monday night.

Mrs. Peagle, who was a native of Latvia and speaks five different languages, French, German, Latvian, and English, emphasized the joys of life in America.

"I am already three weeks in the New World," she continued, "but those have gone as quickly as three days, therefore, I am joyfully content. It is good to feel secure and at home among kind helpful people who strive to aid us both materially and spiritually."

Mrs. Harper discussed helpful facts for girls to know before entering college. Their qualifications should be up to or above regular standards she emphasized.

The semi-formal event had as its guests approximately thirty seniors from both schools. Mrs. Donna Wilson sang three songs, accompanied by Mrs. Lee Foster at the piano, and Mrs. Charles Harter, from West Texas High, presided at the punch bowl.

The guests were given the opportunity to question Mrs. Peagle about Latvia and foreign customs.

The local cinema was a typical setting for Merle Bullard, Norris Root, Pat Ford and Troy Burrus Tuesday night to enjoy themselves.

Duane Howard certainly has a busy schedule every day and night. First, he milks the cows, goes to school, phones Betty Ross Craig, thinks about Betty Ross, takes her to the show and is home early. Wow! What a love!

Regular couples in CHS are: Robert O'Donald and Anita Ruthart, Bennie Abbott and Maurine Scruggs, Ruby Bonds and Joe Abbott, Bruce Winn and Donna Erwin, Bobby Ratliff and Tysene Cox, Travis Payne and Shirley Dixon, Terry Mayben and Gladys Thomas, Faye Gunter and Merle Pitt, Betty Graham and Harrell Slack, Ray Burrus and Barbara Glanton, Christine Mobley and Raby Wallen, Buck Guthrie and Virginia Thomas, Richmond Payne and Nelda Ruthart, Norman Stone and Ruth Ann Crowell, Duane Howard and Betty Ross Craig.

Linda Dooley, where is your boyfriend? Wonder if Tommy Gooch is it?

Lowren Blasengame and Sue Kinney just can't keep from sitting together in choir the fourth period. The choir should reserve them a seat.

Teddy Howell and Virgil Martin seem to have a good time in Spanish class. Carved in a conspicuous place in the Spanish room is "Virgil's novia es Teddy."

Billy Samples found it quite thrilling to help a little waitress, Pat Causey, clear the table in a cafeteria in Canon City Saturday night. What's her address, Billy? Did you get it?

Troy Burrus, Mary Elizabeth Jennings, Norris Root and Katie Purlow all had a wonderful time on the senior trip.

CHS contributed $9.85 to the local Cancer Society fund last week. Small pamphlets were handed out over town and different areas. Each and every person has a role in the Cancer Crusade and needs to know more about it. Students learned they should have an annual physical examination to strike back at cancer. Anyone wishing to make a contribution may send a postcard to Cancer, care of Postmaster. Thirty Nine Take Educational Trip

The Canyon High School Seniors, class of 1950, returned home Sunday night about 10 p. m. from their trip to Colorado.

Thirty-five seniors, sponsors, Mr. T. L. Devin and Mrs. A. K. Knott and room mothers, Mrs. Gladys Haines and Mrs. L. D. Winn left from the high school about 5:30 a. m. Wednesday, on a chartered Greyhound bus.

Laughter and songs filled the bus and the more mischievous ones saw to it that no one got any sleep on the bus.

The group arrived in Pueblo, Colorado about 5 p. m. and spent an hour touring the C. H. & I. Steel Mill there. From there they took an hour's drive to Colorado Springs where they spent the night.

Group Learns to Skate Sitting Down

Waking bright and early Thursday morning the seniors began an eventful day. They saw the Cave of the Winds, the Garden of the Gods, went swimming in the Broadmoor Hotel indoor swimming pool and went ice skating at the Ice Palace.

Friday morning about twenty-five seniors toured the Garden of the Gods on horseback. And after that took the bus to the Seven Falls and then went on to Denver where they spent the night at the Shirley Savoy Hotel.

Saturday morning the travelers toured the Capitol and the Museum of Natural history. That afternoon they went to Canon City to see the Royal Gorge. Saturday night was spent in Canyon City and many of the seniors bowed.

The Penitentiary was visited by the group Sunday morning after church services at the city park. About one o'clock p. m. they started their journey homeward.

Gafford, Bell Are United In Church Ceremony

An impressive afternoon ceremony on Sunday, May 7, at 3 o'clock, united in marriage Miss Dorothy Mae Gafford, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Gafford, and Mr. John Bell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bell, Sr. Scene of the wedding was the First Church of Christ in Canyon. The Rev. Joe F. Watson, pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, a girls' trio composed of Dorothy Brown, Betty Lou Hood and Edna Sue Hood, sang Bond's "I Love You Truly," and "Because." The traditional wedding march was also sung by the girls' trio.

Vows were spoken before a background of gardenias. Two gardenia trees flanked the tall candelabra at the back of the altar in front of which were tall candle sticks wrapped with gardenias and bearing tall white tapers. Baskets of white peonies were on either side of the chancel and each pew was marked with a gardenia surrounded by large green leaves.

Miss Gracie Boyd attended the bride as maid-of-honor, Mrs. Vernon Day was matron-of-honor, and Miss Madelle Beavers was bridesmaid. The attendants were identically styled dresses in blue, pink and yellow organza, fashioned with fitted bodice, ruffle collars and full flowing skirts. They carried colonial bouquets of tinted gardenias.

J. C. Duncan was best man. Groomsmen were LeRoy Wooten, and R. B. Allen, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and ushers were Don Hickman, nephew of the bride, and George Schaeffer.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, J. B. Hickman, was lovely in a wedding gown of white slipper satin styled with a lace bodice and collar, long sleeves which came to a point over the wrists, a lace peplum that fell from the waist, and a full gathered skirt which terminated in a chapel train. Her veil of illusion fell from tiara of seed pearls, and her bridal bouquet was centered with a white orchid and surrounded by showers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Gafford chose for her daughter's wedding a beige crepe dress and beige accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Bell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black crepe dress and black accessories and her corsage was also of gardenias.

The bridal couple was honored with a reception immediately following the wedding, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hickman. The serving table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of gardenias. The large wedding cake was at one end of the table and the punch service completed the table arrangement. Assisting at the reception were Miss Margie Mullican of Wink, Miss Betty Ross Craig, Miss Mary Lou Hoffman, cousin of the bride, of Shamrock, Miss Vona Belle Grant of Andrews, and Miss Helen Jo Wilson of Hereford. Miss Mary Jo Tomlinson registered the guests at the church.

For a wedding trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico, and other points in New Mexico, the bride wore a navy blue and white suit with navy blue accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

After May 12, the couple will be at home on their ranch near La Junta, Colorado.

Mrs. Bell graduated from Canyon High School and attended West Texas State College where she was a member of Kappa Tau Phi sorority, Tau Beta Sigma, honorary band sorority, and the West Texas State Band. She has recently been employed in the County Clerk's office in Canyon.

Mr. Bell graduated from Petersburg High School where he was a member of the football team and art editor of the high school yearbook. He attended West Texas State College and Abilene Christian College where he was a member of Pi Epsilon Beta, honorary art club.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. R. A. McKnight, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grace all of Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams of Paducah; Mrs. Jim Gains and Chris, and Billie Mac Gafford of Dimmitt; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gafford of Tulsa; and Mrs. Norris and her daughter Oma of Amarillo.

Students Who Made Trips to Mexico Report to Rotarians

Dr. Ples Harper was in charge of the Rotary Club program Tuesday, introducing three of the West Texas State students who had visited Mexico as members of the conducted tours sponsored by Dr. Harper.

Miss Alice Morgan of Canadian led off in the discussion with a view of the social aspects of the Mexican people. "I wish that every American citizen might become acquainted with the people of Mexico," stated Miss Morgan. There is no great middle class such as we have in America. There is the very poor class, and then the wealthy class. Most of the citizens spring from Indian blood, and have had little or no chance for a popular education as we have in the USA. The poor live in huts; the wealthy in mansions which are an architectural delight. Industries are rapidly developing and the people are very friendly with the visitors. Due to the climate, the people take life easy, and no one seems to be in a hurry.

Miss Mary Jim Vincent of Amarillo told of the visit of the group to Torreon, which is a modern city, almost as modern and alert as any city in USA. Modern farm equipment, with irrigation and farm methods, together with splendid streets, banks, hotels, and a completely modern country club set this out as a real progressive city. The city is well landscaped, and does not rely on tourist trade for its support.

Frank Stallings of Pampa told of the visit to Monterrey, a city of 200,000 population, which has much tourist traffic. Americans have invested some 150 million dollars in that city, and this is highly industrializing this city. While the people are slow, they are progressive; some day they will snap out of their present condition. The lack of restricted residential zones impresses the visitor; with huts built next to mansions. The visit impresses upon students the necessity of being friends with the people of Mexico. These people are trying to be friends with us.

Diet Was Best Medical Marvel
of World War ii

During the last war, as is well known, the recovery rates of men wounded in action were amazingly high. For a time, this splendid record was attributed entirely to sulfa and penicillin. But, as J. D. Ratcliff points out in a dramatic article in Coronet magazine, "Now medical opinion gives much credit to the amount of protein in soldier diets. Army rations contained twice the protein considered adequate for good nutrition—well over a pound of meat a day.

Protein is the "new look" in diet—and it is based on a solid foundation of scientific knowledge, not on fashion. One of the most compelling experiment in the field was conducted some years ago by Vilhjalmr Stefansson, the great Arctic explorer. He had lived with Eskimos for long periods of time, subsisting entirely on meat—and meat is one of the few foods which contain complete protein. On returning to New York, he decided to eat nothing but meat for an entire year, and he persuaded a friend to follow suit. At the end of that time, the explorer's physical condition, which had always been remarkably fine, was as good as at the start. The friend's health had greatly improved. And that happened with men living, not in the wilds where great amounts of energy were expended, but under artificial urban conditions.

Mr. Ratcliff's Coronet article is called "Meat: A Medical Marvel." Justification for that title can be found in his last paragraph, which says, "Until relatively recently, most emphasis in medicine was on curing disease. Emphasis has now shifted—with most effort being spent on preventing disease. The new concept of the vital role that proteins play good health fits in with this new thinking. Meat is often better medicine than any bottle of pills on the bathroom shelf."

RELIGION IN BUSINESS

AS president and spokesman for the great company which you and I represent, gentlemen, my words today shall be a little different to any ever spoken to you by me. There has been a change... a great change. As you know, we have just won a war of terrifying proportions. God was with us or else we would have failed in this the greatest of conflicts between armored men, yet, we are inclined to fan our pride by boasting of victory rather than thank God for it.

THERE has been a terrible breakdown in the moral philosophy and ethics of men and women since this accomplishment. Homes are being broken up; selfish and unfair methods of doing business set in operation, and a covetous attitude toward our friend and neighbor in general has been adopted. This is not a reprehensible lecture, rather, I should censor myself. You, probably, have been doing business in the same manner as I. With a profound conviction I declare that we, along with many other business men of this decade, have lost our PERSPECTIVE. Some of the greatest business executives we know HAVE DONE what we are NOW DOING... incorporate God's way of doing things into this firm. We have a new partner, men! My dealings with you as with our great list of representatives and customers shall be different from this day. Attend the church of your choice every Sunday.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Improving Netmen Gain Triumphs Over Four Colleges, Independent

Over an extended period of two weeks the tennis squad of West Texas State won five of eight matches from four different schools and one independent court club. The WT netters took wins over Panhandle A & M twice, two from Frank Phillips Junior College, and one from Amarillo College. Texas Tech's potent tennis team took two victories from West Texas and defeated them once. One of the victories over FPJC was racked up by the WT frosh team.

In the two matches with Tech hard-hitting Jake Broyles was the big gun for the Techs as they won both times. Broyles is considered the best tennis player in the Southwest and he came up to par in both meetings as he overpowered WT's number one man Paul Thompson and was a big factor in winning the doubles play. On the local courts he defeated Thompson 6-4 and 6-1. One week later (last Tuesday) he again pounded his way to victory at Lubbock.

Dub Clements was the only victor for WT in the first affair as he defeated Emil Beck. Joe Davis and Dean Strack both went down in defeat, but Strack came through with a win the second time, when he defeated Charley Orren, 6-4, 6-8, and 6-4.

The West Texas team took a clean sweep over Panhandle A. and M. as all players won both singles and doubles at Goodwell, Okla. Thompson played sparkling tennis as he defeated a tough left-hander, Charles Stanford, 6-3, 6-4. However Stanford came back to beat Thompson here in the second meeting of the two net squads; however, he was the only victor for the men from Goodwell. Joe Davis, Dub Clements, Dean Strack, and Bill Boston all won their matches.

Last Saturday the squad journeyed to Borger where they met the Borger Tennis Club. They succeeded in taking three out of nine matches which is quite an improvement over previous encounters. Dub Clements upset Jimmy Hill 8-6 and 6-2. Cuby Kitchens defeated Ronnie Holcomb, who is a very sharp high school player. Thompson and Davis got together to defeat Holcomb and Earl Lanningham 6-2, 5-7, and 6-4. Holcomb and Lanningham are a top doubles combo and have gone to state play-offs in class AA competition. Thompson dropped his singles to Ray McSpadden and Marshall Gordon won over Davis. Strack and Boston both lost out.

Last Monday the team made a clean sweep over Amarillo College in a practice tilt. Ebert Ashby and Marion Mitchell, members of the frosh team, also played in these court matches and both came out on top. Perhaps the most interesting contest was the doubles play between Thompson and Davis, and Jacobson and Bridges of AC. The two Amarillo netmen put up a great fight but the WT strokers downed them 6-4 and 6-4. Mitchell and Ashby combined talents to defeat Moore and Schrickman, 6-2, 6-2. Ashby won over Moore in singles and Mitchell did likewise with Schrickman. Both Strack and Clements won their singles and then took their doubles match.

A frosh team composed of Mitchell, Ashby, Sterlin Holmesly, and W. L. "Dub" Davis foraged to Borger last Thursday and completely shut out Frank Phillips Junior College. Mitchell defeated Del Tookey 6-1, 6-0 in the number one singles and Ashby won his singles from Charles Pruitt 6-2, 6-1. Holmesly took Tex Groff into camp 6-1, 6-2, while Davis overcame Jack McCord 6-2, 10-8. Mitchell and Ashby defeated Tookey and Pruitt 6-2 and 6-1. The Holmesly-Davis combo had a little more difficulty as they won over Groff and McCord, 7-5, 4-6, and 6-1. A week previous to this encounter the WT varsity disposed of the same FPJC team in the same, but more convincing manner.

Tomorrow afternoon the varsity meets the Amarillo Tennis Club on the local courts.

DREAM COMES TRUE

Boy Given Clown Role

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Once upon a time there was a boy who wanted to be a circus clown. And suddenly he was.

That's no fairy story—it actually happened right here in Milwaukee.

The boy was James Miller, nine years old. His mother knew circus man Omar Kenyon, so when the circus came to town for the Shrine benefit performance, she asked Kenyon how about Jimmy becoming a clown in the circus. It was okay, the man said.

Jimmy's father took him out to eat and then they went to the Auditorium. Jimmy had known that he was going to be a clown since the night before. He didn't sleep much. The Millers went up to clown alley, a dressing room above the Auditorium stage, and there they met the clowns.

There was Sa-So, the boss clown, who was born in the Ringling Brothers circus, started to be a clown at 13 and has been at it for 37 years. There was Billy Rice and Billy Hudson, who don't know how old they are, except it's over 65. Charles Lewis and his son, Earl, who is only 21. Roy and Joy Lewis, a married couple. And Slim Collins, long, lean and sad.

Puts on Clown White

Up in clown alley, Jimmy's father helped pull on a clown suit that was too big for him and a pair of artificial bare feet that were even bigger.

Then Sa-So put clown white—zinc oxide—on Jimmy's face. He peppered Jimmy's face with a powder sock. He made lines on Jimmy's cheeks and above his eyes with grease paint.

"It's the first time I ever made up anybody but myself," said the putty nosed clown.

"Can I look at myself?" Jimmy kept asking.

A ruffle around Jimmy's neck and a red, stringy wig and sailor cap on Jimmy's head, and he was a full fledged clown.

Herman Miller suggested that the funny feet were too big for Jimmy to walk in.

"I want to wear 'em," Jimmy said.

Jimmy crouched in front of a mirror, looked at himself, and made happy sounds. The other clowns gathered for a peek, too.

Trick Explained

Sa-So explained a trick he wanted Jimmy to help him do—a trick in which colors are put into a tube and come out as an American flag. Someone suggested a rehearsal.

"The first time's sufficient," said the boss clown. "Come on now. You can't stay up here. You've got work to do."

Sa-So and Jimmy, the clown, went down the steps and into the audience.

"They've got a new clown," said a circus hand.

"It's a midget, a circus fan explained knowingly.

Jimmy made a couple of turns around the arena. He shook hands with children and patted bald headed men on their pates. He and Sa-So did their flag trick and it went off without a hitch.

The other clowns got into the act and finally they got into one of the rings with Sa-So and Jimmy. Sa-So worked the audience for applause, going from one side to the other and cupping his ears.

All the clowns got down on their knees and salaamed to the side of the audience that made the most noise. Jimmy the clown got the idea, and he salaamed, too.

'Letting off Steam' Held Good for Person's Nerves

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Doctors are just about agreed that it is good for the average individual to "blow his top" every now and then—for by so doing he lets off emotional steam which does him no good if kept tightly bottled up.

Doctors, according to many reports, are much concerned with tension—its causes, results and relief. Psychiatrists offices are filled with people who have been driven to illness by the problems and challenges of modern living.

"How can ordinary men and women who do not need psychiatrists, who only occasionally find themselves in a state of nerves regain their serenity?" one writer asks. Doctors advise them to learn to blow their tops. They do not advocate a complete and continual lack of self-control. Instead they believe there is a time and place for such healing outbursts.

"On the debit side of the ledger," she continues, "are the examples concerning the wrong time. There are the people who have 'told off the boss'—and lost good jobs in the process. There are the ones who sassed the cop who arrested them for speeding—and wound up in jail."

"Modern mental hospitals have installed punching bags and other equipment for violent exercise for their patients' use. Science now knows that discharging tension through bodily activity is good mental hygiene."

Murdering Our Hiways Up To State Control

The American Association of State Highway Officials, which represents the highway departments of all the states, have approved an important resolution concerning vehicle size and weights. It points out that the rapidly rising cost of highway maintenance is due largely to excessive loads and the failure of commercial truckers to comply with "very liberal maximum standards." It then recommends that each state initiate a "vigorous, fearless, and sustained program of law enforcement," and that all states adopt proper size and weight laws.

This matter comes home to everyone who uses our highways—or, through taxes, helps pay for them. The heavy-truck problem has reached the critical stage. As an example, the chief engineer of Oregon's highway commission has recommended that the state reduce its construction of new highways by half. This is because the cost of repairing and strengthening existing highways is cutting deeper and deeper into available funds. He said further that the great damage to the highways has resulted from increasing trucking coupled with persistent overloading by some operators. These operators, apparently, overload as a matter of policy and regard the fines they pay as part of their overhead. And all the taxpayers must pay through the nose to repair the destruction their vehicles cause.

Practically every state, judging by engineering reports, has a highway problem—and it is growing worse season by season. To protect our pocketbooks—and our lives as well—we must crack down hard on cynical operators who pay no attention to the law. And where the law is weak, it must be strengthened.

McLean Girl Tops "College" Quiz

Sue Young, McLean High School senior, overwhelmed a field of eight finalists in the "Going to College Quiz," a promotion of the West Texas State speech department and Amarillo radio station KAMQ, to carry off the top award in the contest, staged yesterday in the Main Auditorium.

This award was a scholarship for one year at West Texas State, which will take care of the tuition and activity fee for both fall and spring semesters. Two of these were awarded by Graham-Hoeme Plow Co., and Bert Levy, both of Amarillo. The other went to runner-up Valeta Armstrong, Dalhart High School senior. Points in the contest were given on a basis of five for a correct answer and a minus-five for an incorrect one. Miss Young came away with 52 and Miss Armstrong had 27. The two sponsors of this program toured the Panhandle, catching most of the high schools. The five top seniors were on the programs at the individual schools. Winners here participated in the master quiz show yesterday during the regular assembly hour at West Texas State.

Two contestants, Hazel Petree, of Farwell, and Donald Dewey, of Stinnett, failed to appear. The eight attending were: Bill Delashaw, Bovina; Sue Young, McLean; Valeta Armstrong, Dalhart; Donna Stagner, Hereford; Sue Milton, Groom; Billie Faye Pickett, Dumas; Claude Sloan, Stratford; and Martha Hales, Canyon.

Individual gifts were reported to all contestants from popular Canyon and Amarillo businessmen.
